DETAILED ACTION

This application claims priority to provisional application 60/128,596. Applicant should amend the specification at page 1 to reflect the priority information.

Claims 1-6 are currently pending in this application.

Oath/Declaration

1. The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

10

The oath or declaration is defective because:

It does not identify the city and state or foreign country of residence or the post office address of co-inventor Homero Sepulveda. A post office address is an address at which an inventor customarily receives his or her mail and may be either a home or business address. The post office address should include the ZIP Code designation.

15

A new declaration properly executed by at least Homero Sepulveda is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office Action:

20

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the Applicant for a patent.

25

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Gallimore et al (9 on form PTO-1449).

The Gallimore et al reference teaches a method by which T cells specific for an antigen are isolated. Gallimore et al teaches the construction of tetramers comprising murine H-2D^b, biotinylated β 2 microglobulin, peptide and PE-labeled neutravidin (Abstract in particular).

Gallimore et al further teaches that these tetrameric complexes were used to stain CD8⁺ T cells which were reactive with H-2D^b associated with the peptide of interest. Gallimore et al also teaches that these stained T cells were selected by FACS based upon the staining with the complexes. The prior art teaching clearly anticipates the claimed invention. Claim 4 is included because, while the Gallimore et al reference does not teach Drosophila cells as a source of the complex, the claim is drawn to the method of purifying T cells, not to the method of making the complex. The Drosophila cells are merely included in the claim as an intended source of the product and do not confer any difference upon the product itself. Applicant is reminded that a product is the same product irrespective of the manner in which is obtained. Claim 3 is included because, while the claim is drawn to a "green" fluorescent compound and the PE used by Gallimore et al is red, it is respectfully submitted that the color of fluorochrome used is a matter of choice and is primarily dependent upon the color of other available reagents in a double staining environment. Therefore the color of fluorochrome is not seen as a patentable difference. It is noted that at the top of the reference a hand-written notation was made in the script of one of the inventors stating: "This paper is directly relevant to our method for isolation Ag-specific T cells [sic]."

Conclusion

4. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which Applicant may become aware in the specification.
